Dependent: Spouse, children under 25, or parents whose income is below Rs 3 lakh/year.

Threshold Splitting: The fraudulent practice of dividing one large expense into smaller claims to bypass approval limits.

Project Code: A unique identifier (e.g., PRJ-2026-042) assigned to each project for cost attribution.

Section 1: General Principles and Scope

CF-POL-EXP-2026-S01

1.1 Core Principles

Legitimacy: Expenses must be genuinely incurred for official business. Personal expenses will never be reimbursed.

Economy: Employees must always choose the most cost-effective reasonable option. Luxury choices require CFO approval.

Transparency: All claims must be supported by valid original receipts and complete documentation.

Timeliness: Claims must be submitted within category-specific deadlines. Late claims will be rejected without exception.

Integrity: Fraudulent, duplicate, or inflated claims will result in disciplinary action and potential legal proceedings.

Accountability: Every rupee claimed is traceable. All claims are audited quarterly by the internal audit team.

1.2 Approval Hierarchy

Claim Amount (INR)	Primary Approver	Secondary Approver	TAT
Up to Rs 2,000	Direct Manager	—	1 working day
Rs 2,001–10,000	Dept. Manager	—	2 working days
Rs 10,001–25,000	Finance Head	Dept. Manager	3 working days
Rs 25,001–1,00,000	Finance Head	CFO	5 working days
Above Rs 1,00,000	CFO	CEO	7 working days
International Travel	CFO	CEO	7 working days

■ Exception: For project-billable expenses, the Project Manager acts as the primary approver regardless of amount, with Finance as secondary above Rs 10,000.

1.3 Project Code Requirement

Effective January 2026, all claims above Rs 1,000 must include a valid Project Code for cost attribution. Claims without a project code will be auto-rejected by the system.

- Internal projects: Use the project code assigned in Jira (e.g., PRJ-2026-042)
- Client projects: Use the client billing code (e.g., CLI-TCS-2026-007)
- BAU (Business as Usual) activities: Use department BAU code (e.g., BAU-ENG-2026)
- Travel with no project: Use ADMIN-TRAVEL-2026

■ Claims submitted without a valid project code will be auto-rejected. No manual override is available for this rule.

1.4 Escalation and SLA Breach Protocol

If an approver does not act on a claim within the defined TAT:

- Day 1 after TAT: System sends automated reminder to approver
- Day 2 after TAT: System escalates to approver's manager

- Day 3 after TAT: Finance Head is notified and can override-approve
 - Day 5 after TAT: HR Director is notified. Approver receives performance note
- SLA breach does not automatically approve the claim. It only escalates the notification chain.

Section 13: Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

CF-POL-EXP-2026-S13

Q: I lost my original receipt. Can I still claim?

A: Yes, in most categories. Provide bank statement showing the transaction + any secondary proof (email confirmation, booking screenshot). Manager must certify the expense was genuine. Food claims above Rs 300 without receipt are auto-rejected — no exception.

Q: My manager is on leave and I need urgent approval. What do I do?

A: Contact the next level manager (your manager's manager) for interim approval. Document this in the claim form. The system accepts delegation approval.

Q: I paid for a colleague's expense from my account. Can I claim it?

A: Yes. Submit the claim with both employees' names. Your colleague must confirm via email that they did not and will not file a separate claim for the same expense.

Q: Can I claim a claim that is 3 months old?

A: No. All categories have hard deadlines. Claims older than the maximum extension period are auto-rejected by the system. No CFO-level override is available for claims older than 90 days (except hospitalization).

Q: My claim was approved but I haven't received payment. Who do I contact?

A: Check the claim status in the portal. If status shows 'Approved' but payment not received within the SLA, raise a ticket to finance@claimflow.in with your claim ID and bank details.

Q: Can I claim in USD for a domestic expense paid via international card?

A: No. All domestic expenses must be claimed in INR. If you paid in USD domestically, convert using RBI rate on transaction date and claim in INR.

Q: I booked a flight in advance and the price changed. Can I rebook?

A: Yes if cancellation + rebooking is cheaper than original. Attach both tickets and price comparison. If net saving is positive, Finance will approve.

Q: Can I claim alcohol served at a client dinner?

A: No. Alcohol is never reimbursable under any category under any circumstances. Request itemized bill and claim only food and non-alcoholic beverages.

Q: My project code hasn't been created yet but I need to travel now?

A: Use the temporary code TEMP-PENDING-2026 and update the actual code within 5 days of claim submission. Claims older than 10 days with TEMP code are auto-rejected.

Q: I'm on probation. What can I claim?

A: Travel, accommodation, and food during official outstation travel (all with pre-approval). Medical for self only. No equipment, no training budget during probation.

Q: The AI system flagged my claim as suspicious but it's genuine. What do I do?

A: Do not panic. The compliance team will review within 2 working days and contact you for clarification. Provide all supporting documents promptly. Most legitimate claims flagged by AI are cleared within 3 working days.

Q: Can my spouse claim medical expenses directly?

A: No. All claims must be filed by the employee. Your spouse's medical expenses are claimed by you, as the covered employee, on their behalf.
